2. Room Availability Rules

Room inventory is managed in real time through the property management system (PMS).

Room types are assigned based on the category selected at the time of booking.

Specific room numbers or floors may be requested but are not guaranteed.

Availability for walk-in guests is subject to real-time inventory and cannot override confirmed reservations.

A reservation is considered a no-show if the guest does not arrive by 23:59 on the scheduled check-in date without prior notice.

For standard rate bookings, the first night's room charge plus taxes will be applied to the guarantee card.

For non-refundable bookings, the full stay amount will be charged.

The remaining nights of a multi-night reservation will be cancelled automatically unless the guest contacts the hotel.

Guests who contact the hotel before 23:59 on the check-in date may request a one-night hold without penalty.

7. Overbooking Handling Rules

Overbooking is permitted only with prior written approval from the Revenue Manager or General Manager.

In the event of overbooking, the hotel must relocate the guest to a comparable or higher-category property at no additional cost.

The hotel will cover transportation to the alternate property and provide a complimentary future stay voucher.

Guests with guaranteed reservations, loyalty members, and long-stay guests receive priority for room retention.

All overbooking incidents must be documented in the incident log and reported to the General Manager within 24 hours.

Note: Staff must never disclose overbooking status to guests. Use the term 'relocation due to unforeseen circumstances' when communicating with affected guests.
